Cambridge International General Certificate of Secondary Education

MARK SCHEME for the October/November 2015 series

0471 TRAVEL AND TOURISM

0471/22

Paper 2 (Alternative to Coursework), maximum raw mark 100

This mark scheme is published as an aid to teachers and candidates, to indicate the requirements of the examination. It shows the basis on which Examiners were instructed to award marks. It does not indicate the details of the discussions that took place at an Examiners' meeting before marking began, which would have considered the acceptability of alternative answers.

Mark schemes should be read in conjunction with the question paper and the Principal Examiner Report for Teachers.

Cambridge will not enter into discussions about these mark schemes.

Cambridge is publishing the mark schemes for the October/November 2015 series for most Cambridge IGCSE®, Cambridge International A and AS Level components and some Cambridge O Level components.

Credit all valid reasoning in context.

- (d) Evaluate the importance of customers' expectations as a factor when determining pricing policies for tourism providers in Madagascar. [9]

The candidates are expected to show knowledge of customer expectations.

Correct ideas include:

- How much a customer is willing to pay – this is determined by customer profile and disposable income. Price may be set in line with target market profile.
- Customer assessment of brand – they may expect to pay the price associated with the quality of the brand/concept of value for money. Price may be set in line with usual range for brand.
- Customer expectations can be linked to global factors – customers may expect to pay less in a recession – prices may be lowered.

Use levels of response criteria:

Level 1 (1–3 marks) At this level candidates will identify 1, 2 or more examples/features of customer expectation or examples of pricing policy or examples of other factors

Level 2 (4–6 marks) At this level candidates will 1, 2 or more reasons why customer expectation has an impact on pricing policy chosen.

Level 3 (7–9 marks) At this level candidates will evaluate the importance of customer expectation as a pricing policy determinant. Other aspects may be considered in relation to customer expectation for example competitors charges; seasonality; subsidies; fixed costs. For 8/9 marks a reasoned conclusion or judgement should be evident.
