Unit 2: The Study of Drama and Poetry

Foundation Tier

[GET23]

FRIDAY 26 MAY, MORNING

MARK SCHEME

Introduction

A variety of responses is possible and expected in English Literature, but whatever the chosen question, assessment should be based on the candidates' responses to the following assessment objectives and their interpretation as set out below.

Assessment Objective 1:

Respond to texts critically and imaginatively; select and evaluate relevant textual detail to illustrate and support interpretations.

This will be conveyed by the candidate's ability to:

- demonstrate knowledge and understanding of the text;
- understand and communicate explicit and implicit meanings;
- substantiate point of view by relevant reference, inference and deduction, using appropriate and effective quotation as required;
- express convincing and supported personal responses, opinions and preferences;
- provide insights into characters, relationships, attitudes and values.

Quality of written communication is also being assessed through AO1. This requires that candidates: ensure that text is legible and that spelling, punctuation and grammar are accurate so that meaning is clear; select and use a form and style of writing appropriate to purpose; and organise information clearly and coherently, using appropriate vocabulary. All mark grids include a descriptor under AO1 assessing QWC through reference to the structure/organisation of responses and accuracy in expression.

Assessment Objective 2:

Explore how language, structure and form contribute to writers' presentation of ideas, themes, characters and settings.

This will be conveyed by the candidate's ability to:

- consider and comment upon differing views and interpretations of texts;
- comment meaningfully on the texts studied, referring to the appropriateness of the form and structure adopted by the writer;
- describe and appreciate the effectiveness of general and specific uses of language and stylistic devices;
- appreciate changing atmosphere and tone and comment upon how they are achieved.

Assessment Objective 3:

Make comparisons and explain links between texts, evaluating writers' differing ways of expressing meaning and achieving effects.

This will be conveyed by the candidate's ability to:

- identify similarities and differences between texts;
- make and explore connections and comparisons between texts;
- select and juxtapose relevant details of theme, character, setting and tone;
- analyse similarities and differences in the use of language, structure and form.

Assessment Objective 4:

Relate texts to their social, cultural and historical contexts; explain how texts have been influential and significant to self and other readers in different contexts and at different times.

This will be conveyed by the candidate's ability to:

- show an awareness of the context in which texts were written;
- take into account alternative interpretations of texts;
- give a personal response.

Every effort should be made to assess the work of the candidate positively. Examiners should annotate scripts and comment appropriately on points made and insights expressed. Annotation and the award of marks should be based on the appropriate assessment matrix.

Arriving at a Final Mark

Markers should use the general Assessment Matrix which sets out the broad criteria for the four mark bands in combination with the specific requirements set down for each question.

For use and application in Section A: Drama and Section B: Poetry

ASSESSMENT OF SPELLING, PUNCTUATION AND GRAMMAR

If the answer does not address the question, then no spelling, punctuation and grammar marks are available. If the candidate has attempted to answer the question but produced nothing of credit, spelling, punctuation and grammar marks may still be awarded.

THRESHOLD PERFORMANCE [1]

Candidates spell, punctuate and use the rules of grammar with reasonable accuracy in the context of the demands of the question. Any errors do not hinder meaning in the response. Where required, they use a limited range of specialist terms accurately.

INTERMEDIATE PERFORMANCE [2]

Candidates spell, punctuate and use the rules of grammar with considerable accuracy and general control of meaning in the context of the demands of the question. Where required, they use a good range of specialist terms with facility.

HIGH PERFORMANCE [3]

Candidates spell, punctuate and use the rules of grammar with consistent accuracy and effective control of meaning in the context of the demands of the question. Where required, they use a wide range of specialist terms adeptly and with precision.

Section A – Drama

In this section we are assessing two assessment objectives:

AO1

Respond to texts critically and imaginatively; select and evaluate relevant textual detail to illustrate and support interpretations;

and

AO2

Explore how language, structure and form contribute to writers' presentation of ideas, themes, characters and settings.

Guidelines to assessing AO2 in candidates' responses to Drama (Foundation Tier)

Assessment Objective 2 requires candidates to "explore how language, structure and form contribute to writers' presentation of ideas, themes, characters and settings."

Key terms in the question:

"In your answer you should consider the language and dramatic techniques used in presenting ..."

Key terms in the bullets:

The named dramatist's "use of language and dramatic techniques".

Use of Language and Stylistic Devices/Dramatic Techniques

When assessing candidates' responses to drama, some of the following uses of language and stylistic and dramatic devices may be noted. (This list is neither prescriptive nor exhaustive, but is intended as a helpful guide to examiners.)

- division into acts and scenes;
- stage directions;
- use of some technical terms (e.g. exposition, protagonist, hero, minor character, denouement);
- cohesive elements (e.g. repetition of words or ideas, climax, sequential ordering);
- disjunctive elements (e.g. curtain, exit, entrance);
- use of flashback, or of anticipation of events;
- asides, soliloquy, dramatic monologue, use of narrator or chorus;
- tonal features (e.g. emphasis, exclamation);
- interaction through dialogue and movement;
- use of punctuation to indicate delivery of lines (e.g. interruption, hesitation, turn-taking, listening);
- reportage;
- vocabulary choices;
- staging (set, lighting, use of properties, on-stage characters but unseen by others);
- costume and music effects.

Section A: Drama

1 Friel: Dancing at Lughnasa

- (a) Show that the Mundy sisters show concern for members of their family.

In your answer you should consider the language and dramatic techniques used in presenting:

- the attitude of the Mundy sisters towards Rose;
- the attitude of the Mundy sisters towards Jack;
- what the older Michael says about the sisters.

Examiners should note that candidates must address the stem of the question.

Reward candidates who can present a personal response and informed argument (AO1), backed up with understanding of the dramatist's methods and intentions (AO2).

Band 0 None	0
Band 1 Very Little	1–10
Band 2 Emerging	11–20
Band 3 Some	21–30
Band 4 Competent	31–40

The following textual details may be used as supporting material. The words in bold may form part of the argument.

The attitude of the Mundy sisters towards Rose:

- Agnes is patient with Rose's questioning;
- Maggie humours Rose by dancing with her;
- they all show concern about Danny Bradley and Agnes intervenes to protect Rose;
- Chris and Maggie warn Rose about Danny Bradley;
- the language used by Chris, "Bastard", shows deep worry but is said softly not to upset Rose;
- the other sisters try to shield Rose from the knowledge that her knitting is no longer needed;
- Use of questioning and SD as the sisters show various levels of agitation when Rose disappears after picking berries with Agnes. e.g. SD Agnes begins to cry, SD rush out to greet her;
- the other sisters show concern by searching for Rose and Agnes after they left the family home.

The attitudes of the Mundy sisters towards Jack:

The sisters are worried and concerned about Jack because:

- he abandoned his Roman Catholic religion for the African religion – he doesn't realise;
- he has brought shame to the family – they don't mention this;
- he is sick with malaria and mentally confused – mixes up names;
- he has trouble remembering English words;
- he is in disgrace having 'gone native';
- Kate tries to steer him back to the Catholic religion;
- he causes Kate to lose her job by bringing shame on the family;
- his behaviour is disconcerting and causes his sisters concern;
- Maggie tries to joke with him.

What the older Michael says about the sisters:

The adult Michael provides long monologues that explain for the worry of most of the sisters including:

- Agnes and Rose left the family and the sisters' search for them shows concern;
- Twenty five years later, Michael discovered that Agnes and Rose had gone to London, where they became destitute, and eventually died, displaying the validity of the sisters' concern for Rose and Agnes's welfare;
- Kate was justified in her concern for Chris;
- Michael tells how they "scraped and saved" to support Jack abroad and then tried to protect his name when he returned.

Credit any other valid suggestions.

Use of Language and Stylistic Devices/Dramatic Techniques, in response to the Key Term "presents", see Guidelines at the start of Section A.

Use the Assessment Matrix.

- (b) Look again at the extract from Act 1 beginning at the top of page 28 with Maggie’s words, “He’s Michael’s father, Kate” and ending on page 30 with Gerry’s words, “Look! A single magpie!”

Show that Gerry Evans is unreliable.

In your answer you should consider the language and dramatic techniques in presenting:

- what Gerry, Chris and Kate say and do in the extract;
- Friel’s use of language and dramatic techniques in the extract;
- Gerry’s actions elsewhere in the play.

Examiners should note that candidates must address the stem of the question.

Reward candidates who can present a personal response and informed argument (AO1), backed up with understanding of the dramatist’s methods and intentions (AO2).

Band 0 None	0
Band 1 Very Little	1–10
Band 2 Emerging	11–20
Band 3 Some	21–30
Band 4 Competent	31–40

The following textual details may be used as supporting material. The words in bold may form part of the argument.

What Gerry, Chris and Kate say and do in the extract:

- Kate refers to Gerry’s lack of responsibility;
- Chris doubts Gerry;
- Chris flatters Gerry too, “sounds good, Gerry”;
- Gerry refers to his own lack of commitment, “for while it lasted.”;
- Gerry exaggerates and admits to lying, “thousands”, “millions”, “never been busier” and story about brochures, “off the bike; up the lane”;
- Gerry strives to convince, “one very big enterprise”;
- Gerry has to be told that Michael is at school now and needs brought up to date with information;
- Gerry lacks credibility in his story about not getting a blue bike for his son;
- Gerry congratulates Chris with sycophantic flattery, “never anything like it”;
- Kate’s derogatory terms for Gerry, “loafer! Wastrel!”;
- Maggie reveals that Chris is aware of Gerry’s lack of responsibility;
- Gerry tells the outrageous story about the cow, “She knows all that, too”;
- Gerry slips up revealing his lack of prowess as a salesman, “maybe this week I’m going to sell a gramophone or two after all”;
- Gerry changes the subject quickly from his selling of gramophones indicating awareness of his own slip-up.

Friel’s use of language and dramatic techniques in the extract:

- staging allows the audience to hear two different conversations with Kate’s remarks on Gerry;
- Chris questioning Gerry in short questions, “Real lessons?”;
- SD He does a quick step as Gerry supports his claims;
- comic exaggeration, “thousands of pupils, millions!” but admitting to 53 then 51;
- Gerry’s use of hyperbole, “fabulous”, “unbelievable”, “wow-wow-wow-wow”;
- Gerry changes the subject quickly from the story of getting Michael a bike, “Are you busy yourself?”;

- SD She laughs indicates the effect of Gerry’s flattery as does her exclamation, “you never did!”;
- SD Chris laughs at Gerry’s “Would I tell you a lie?” and repeats Gerry’s own hyperbole, “thousands, millions”;
- Gerry interrupts Chris’ realisation of his selling achievements, “Look! A single magpie!”.

Gerry’s actions elsewhere in the play:

- Kate’s comments on Gerry’s arrival reveal his disruptive influence, “upsetting everybody”;
- SD throws the sisters into chaos and everybody dashes about in confusion, the times overlap, further illustrates disruption caused by Gerry;
- Gerry unsure (or lies) about how long it has been since his last visit;
- Gerry makes Chris forget her worries by distracting her with his charm, Maggie says, “She laughs all the time with him”;
- he is an infrequent visitor;
- Gerry continues with false promises – always on the brink of a new job, proposing to Chris, promising Michael a new bicycle;
- Michael refers to Gerry as a vacillator and tells of his double life in Wales – total duplicity.

Credit any other valid suggestions.

Use of Language and Stylistic Devices/Dramatic Techniques, in response to the Key Term “presents”, see Guidelines at the start of Section A.

Use the Assessment Matrix.

2 Miller: All My Sons

(a) Do you think Chris is always truthful? Give reasons for your opinions.

In your answer you should consider the language and dramatic techniques used in presenting:

- Chris's relationships at home;
- Chris's relationships with Ann Deever.

Examiners should note that candidates must address the stem of the question.

Reward candidates who can present a personal response and informed argument (AO1), backed up with understanding of the dramatist's methods and intentions (AO2).

Band 0 None	0
Band 1 Very Little	1–10
Band 2 Emerging	11–20
Band 3 Some	21–30
Band 4 Competent	31–40

The following textual details may be used as supporting material.
The words in bold may form part of the argument.

Chris's relationships at home:

- he tries to avoid conflict;
- he is dissatisfied with his life with his parents but keeps this from them;
- he has feelings of shame over the unclear circumstances of the shop incident but is reluctant to confront the possibility of the truth;
- he reacts with discomfort to Keller's idea of changing the name of the plant to include him;
- social responsibility is his moral imperative but allows his faith in Keller to overrule any doubts;
- he desires change but tries to hide his desires to escape but also to gain experiences of life;
- he is not truthful with himself when the truth behind the shop incident comes to light;
- he has a quick temper and shows it when his integrity comes under pressure.

Chris's relationship with Ann Deever:

- Ann believes in his honesty, "Whenever I need somebody to tell me the truth, I've always thought of Chris";
- he misleads Ann into thinking no one in the neighbourhood remembers the old crime;
- when Ann says yes to his proposal, Chris exaggerates in the same way as his father as he tells her he'll make her a fortune;
- he's afraid of his mother and won't be honest about his intentions with Ann;
- Chris refuses to face up to the truth and bring his father to justice, arguing with Ann, "I know what you're thinking, Annie. It's true. I'm yellow. I was made yellow in this house because I suspected my father and I did nothing about it";
- he credits Ann with restoring his truthfulness, "I'm practical now. You made me practical";
- his speech displays attempts to avoid uncomfortable situations (and the truth): "We'll wait till tonight. After dinner."; "Are you going to cut it out?"; "So what?";
- he resorts to anger when unable to deal with situations facing up to the truth, e.g. SD shaken and therefore angered.

Credit any other valid suggestions.

Use of Language and Stylistic Devices/Dramatic Techniques, in response to the Key Term “presents”, see Guidelines at the start of Section A.

Use the Assessment Matrix.

- (b) Look again at the extract beginning at the bottom of page 35 with the stage direction, KELLER (asking uncomfortably), until the end of Act One.

Show that Joe and Kate Keller cannot avoid the consequences of past events.

In your answer you should consider the language and dramatic techniques used in presenting:

- what Keller says and does in the extract;
- Miller’s use of language and dramatic techniques in the extract;
- Kate’s concern about the past.

Examiners should note that candidates must address the stem of the question.

Reward candidates who can present a personal response and informed argument (AO1), backed up with understanding of the dramatist’s methods and intentions (AO2).

Band 0 None	0
Band 1 Very Little	1–10
Band 2 Emerging	11–20
Band 3 Some	21–30
Band 4 Competent	31–40

The following textual details may be used as supporting material. The words in bold may form part of the argument.

What Keller says and does in the extract:

- Keller is concerned that Ann will bring up past events;
- he is evasive answering Chris, “It’s crazy”;
- he tries to extract information about Ann from Chris, “She don’t hold nothing against me, does she?”;
- he becomes more forceful in his questioning of Chris;
- he tries to pre-empt the past being brought up as “nuisance value, to hurt us”;
- he tries to distract Chris from discussion of the past by appealing to Chris’s loyalty to the business by suggesting naming the plant after Chris;
- he reinforces this appeal to loyalty by gifting Chris a house and suggesting “joy” instead of “shame”;
- he suggests Chris is being disloyal, “Because sometimes I think you’re ... ashamed of the money”, to deflect from his own guilt related to past events;
- he alternates from challenging Chris to showing Chris affection to gain his loyalty when past events are brought up by Ann and George;
- he offers to support Chris with his proposed marriage and to help in persuading Kate, again in an effort to deflect Chris from discussing past events;
- he becomes agitated when he hears George is coming;
- he tries to calm Kate by being dismissive of what George might have discovered from Steve, “So what?”, “Well? So?”;
- he becomes increasingly agitated with the prospect of George coming after visiting his father and Kate’s sense of panic, “Once and for all, did you hear what I said? I said I’m sure!”.

Miller’s use of language and dramatic techniques in the extract:

- SD Keller asking uncomfortably showing Keller’s worry that Ann will bring up the past;
- use of ellipsis to indicate Keller’s concern not to say too much about his suspicions of Ann’s motives, “Suddenly he goes .... and she comes here”;
- SD a little more combatively demonstrates Keller trying to force the issue;

- SD on phone offstage allows audience to hear Ann's conversation with George and experience Keller's worry;
- SD breaking in and with great force, moving about showing Keller trying to take control of the situation;
- SD with deep emotion showing Keller appealing to Chris and trying to get Chris to commit to supporting him;
- use of ellipsis to indicate dramatic pause, " .... Say it to me";
- Keller tries to control Chris with a variety of emotions, with laughter between his determined jaws;
- use of short sentences and SD as Keller shows feigned light-heartedness towards Ann but shows his worry to Kate, "Take your time, To Mother What does George want?";
- use of short sentences to indicate Keller's concern, "So what?", "Well? So?";
- SD frightened, but angry indicating Keller's inner turmoil;
- SDs desperately and hopeless fury indicate Keller's worry that past events will re-emerge with George's visit and his increasing agitation at this turn of events is indicated in SD slamming screen doors.

Kate's concern about the past:

- Kate feels that the past is returning to haunt them, "everything decides to happen at the same time. This month is his birthday; his tree blows down, Ann comes. Everything that happened seems to be coming back";
- Kate trips over Larry's baseball glove in the cellar and admits she hasn't "seen it in a century";
- Kate has dreamt about Larry and sees him crashing in front of her the night his tree is blown down by the wind;
- Kate becomes disturbed at the mention of jail and the past and shouts at Joe, "I didn't say you had anything to hide, I'm just telling you to stop it! Now stop it!";
- suspicious of the Deever's motives to visit them, Kate tells Chris: "You don't realise how people can hate, they can hate so much they'll tear the world to pieces";
- Kate's desire to protect her husband against any possible harm makes her seek Chris's help: "Dad and I are stupid people. We don't know anything. You've got to protect us";
- Kate insists on her son's being still alive, "If he's dead, your father killed him";
- Kate suggests to Keller to act on Chris's compassion by confessing his guilt to Chris, "explain yourself ... you ought to make it clear that you know you did a terrible thing";
- Kate pleads with Chris not to tell his father about the letter;
- Kate has a strong desire to forget all unpleasant past events after Keller's suicide.

Credit any other valid suggestions.

Use of Language and Stylistic Devices/Dramatic Techniques, in response to the Key Term "presents", see Guidelines at the start of Section A.

Use the Assessment Matrix.

3 O'Casey: Juno and the Paycock

- (a) Show that religion is important in the play. Who is most influenced by their religion? Give reasons for your opinions.

In your answer you should consider the language and dramatic techniques used in presenting:

- Johnny's attitude to religion;
- Mrs Boyle's attitude to religion;
- Captain Boyle's attitude to religion.

Examiners should note that candidates must address the stem of the question.

Reward candidates who can present a personal response and informed argument (AO1), backed up with understanding of the dramatist's methods and intentions (AO2).

Band 0 None	0
Band 1 Very Little	1–10
Band 2 Emerging	11–20
Band 3 Some	21–30
Band 4 Competent	31–40

The following textual details may be used as supporting material. The words in bold may form part of the argument.

Johnny's attitude to religion:

- he has faith in the protection offered by the Virgin Mary;
- he thinks that the trappings of religion will protect him – a votive light; a picture; a few snatches of prayer; a Sacred Heart statue;
- he frequently invokes God's name when angry/agitated, "quit that readin' for God's sake" and "I wish to God a bullet or a bomb..";
- the religious aspect of the shame he feels attached to Mary's pregnancy, "burnin' to tell everyone of the shame you've brought upon us";
- Johnny uses religion as a source of comfort and it is of great importance to him. He recites a "Hail Mary" as he is dragged off;
- however, he still uses religious profanity when the need arises.

Mrs Boyle's attitude to religion:

- she initially chastises religions for not making the world a better place;
- she changes her mind, blaming people for not engaging with their religions;
- she pokes fun at Bentham's religion, "The Prawna!", declaring his religion to be curious;
- religion is a source of comfort: towards the end, she echoes Mrs Tancred's prayer and turns to the Virgin Mary and laments that their pleas to God have failed.

Captain Boyle's attitude to religion:

- his views on the Church change with his wealth;
- his opinion that Jerry Devine is unmanly because he doesn't curse and is never drunk, "sure he's not like a Christian at all";
- he maintains the Catholic clergy have too much power over the people;
- he believes the Catholic clergy betrayed their leaders;
- later, he doesn't like anyone talking, "disrespectful of Father Farrell";
- he declares the priests have always been "in the van of the fight for Ireelan's freedom";
- mocks Jem's prayers and religious observances, "and she is a child of Mary too."

Captain Boyle wears his religion as he wears his clothes – changing to suit the direction of the wind!

Reward candidates who can present a well-developed argument about who is most influenced by religion.

Uses of Language and Stylistic Devices/Dramatic Techniques, in response to O’Casey’s use of language and dramatic techniques: see guidelines at the start of Section A.

Use the Assessment Matrix.

- (b) Look again at the extract in Act 3 beginning at the bottom of page 129 with Mrs Madigan (appearing at the door) and ending in the middle of page 131 with the stage direction (She goes off with the gramophone).

Show that Mrs Madigan is dislikeable.

In your answer you should consider the language and dramatic techniques used in presenting:

- what Mrs Madigan says and does in the extract;
- O’Casey’s use of language and dramatic techniques in the extract;
- Mrs Madigan in the party scene in Act 2.

Examiners should note that candidates must address the stem of the question.

Reward candidates who can present a personal response and informed argument (AO1), backed up with understanding of the dramatist’s methods and intentions (AO2).

Band 0 None	0
Band 1 Very Little	1–10
Band 2 Emerging	11–20
Band 3 Some	21–30
Band 4 Competent	31–40

The following textual details may be used as supporting material.
The words in bold may form part of the argument.

What Mrs Madigan says and does in the extract:

- Mrs Madigan’s sneaky, quiet and saccharine opening words to the Captain;
- she will not sit to deliver her message, suggesting an ulterior motive;
- her admission about her own destination following death;
- her blunt aggression, “Come on, out with th’ money, an’ don’t be jack-actin’”;
- she threatens violence, “I’ll shake the worth of it out of you!”, having first directly insulted him, “y’oul’ reprobate”;
- her determination to get her money’s worth, (She catches up the gramophone.);
- her sarcastic response when Boyle says the gramophone isn’t his, “It’ll be an ayse to me conscience,”;
- she enjoys the discomfort she is causing Boyle.

O’Casey’s language and dramatic techniques:

- O’Casey’s clever insertion of doubt about legacy, “- if I may use the word –” in Mrs Madigan’s opening words;
- the tension is heightened by Captain Boyle’s instant realisation that she doesn’t mean well, (uneasily);
- the sense of impending doom is heightened, (ominously);
- Boyle’s attempted bonhomie to deflect her, adding the price of a pint to what he owes;
- the humour of extracting blood “from a turnip”;
- Mrs Madigan’s aggression in the stage direction (rushing over and shaking him).

Mrs Madigan in the party scene in Act 2:

- O’Casey immediately encourages dislike in the stage directions, a widespread smile of complacency.....the bird instinct is by no means a melodious one.....She is ignorant, vulgar and forward....., although her heart was generous withal”;
- Mrs Madigan’s obsequious compliment to Mary, “I know some as are as sweet as the blossoms”;

- her falsely sincere, effusive greeting of Mr Bentham, complimenting Mary again and Bentham himself;
- the sneaky way she acquires Boyle's whiskey;
- her false flattery of Juno;
- her over-the-top description of her own romancing;
- her vain description of her own singing, "I remember the time...";
- her encouragement of the Captain and his singing/recitation, "Gwan, Captain, gwan";
- she insults Needle Nugent, questioning his loyalty to the "cause";
- she coldly wants a better view of the funeral.

4 Priestley: An Inspector Calls

(a) Show that Mr Birling acts unkindly towards his children.

In your answer you should consider:

- how he behaves towards Eric;
- how he behaves towards Sheila.

Reward candidates who can present a personal response and informed argument (AO1), backed up with understanding of the dramatist's methods and intentions (AO2).

Band 0 None	0
Band 1 Very Little	1–10
Band 2 Emerging	11–20
Band 3 Some	21–30
Band 4 Competent	31–40

The following textual details may be used as supporting material.
The words in bold may form part of an argument.

How he behaves towards Eric:

- Mr Birling dismisses Eric's assertions about War, telling him: "You've a lot to learn yet";
- he joins in with Gerald, teasing Eric before lecturing him in a more serious tone about what "some of these boys...nowadays" get up to;
- he tries to silence Eric ("Just keep quiet"), in front of the Inspector as he begins his investigation;
- he speaks "angrily" to Eric when Eric questions his dismissal of Eva, threatening him: "Unless you brighten up your ideas";
- he reacts bitterly to his realisation of Eric's drinking and conduct, taking no parental responsibility for his son's actions;
- he appears unapproachable as a parent calling Eric a "damned fool" and chastising him for not going to him for help;
- he calls Eric "spoilt" – a product of the "public-school-Varsity life" he has paid for;
- he blames Eric for everything that has happened;
- he threatens to throw Eric out of the house: "And I say – either stop shouting or get out";
- his dispassionate response to Eric's predicament;
- Eric says, "You're not the kind of father a chap could go to when he's in trouble."

How he behaves towards Sheila:

- he chastises Sheila for not paying attention to his speech, in front of her fiancé ("Are you listening Sheila?");
- his speech on the engagement focuses more on "business" than on the couple themselves;
- his tone is patronising: "Nothing to do with you, Sheila. Run along" and asks his wife, "What's the matter with that child?";
- he attempts to prevent her hearing about Gerald's involvement, perhaps to prevent the breakdown of their engagement;
- he tries to excuse Gerald's affair with Eva: "you must understand that a lot of young men";
- he commands her to "Be quiet" when she tries to stop her mother condemning Eric;
- he accuses her of being disloyal to the family, despite her attempts to get them to admit their part in Eva Smith's death;
- he dismisses her when she tries to make sense of things when the Inspector has left, "Then don't begin. Nobody wants you to";

- he threatens to make her leave the room, when she reacts angrily to her parents' lack of contrition.

- (b) Look again at the extract in Act One, beginning at the top of page 3 with Birling’s words, “Oh – come, come – I’m treating Gerald like one of the family” and ending near the bottom of page 5 with Mrs Birling’s words, “Well, it came just at the right moment. That was clever of you, Gerald.”

Show that marriage is based on social position.

In your answer you should consider the language and dramatic techniques used in presenting:

- what Gerald and Mr and Mrs Birling say in the extract;
- Priestley’s use of language and dramatic techniques in the extract;
- what we learn about marriage elsewhere in the play.

Reward candidates who can present a personal response and informed argument (AO1), backed up with understanding of the dramatist’s methods and intentions (AO2).

Band 2 Emerging	11–20
Band 3 Some	21–30
Band 4 Competent	31–40

The following textual details may be used as supporting material.
The words in bold may form part of an argument.

What Gerald says in the extract:

- he lies to Sheila about his whereabouts the previous summer, “I was awfully busy at the works all that time”, showing a lack of real respect for her;
- he wants Sheila to believe he has wished to be a member of her family for a long time;
- he appears to regard her as a well-won prize;
- he is a mix of self-satisfied confidence, “you can drink to me” and humility, “hope I can make you as happy as you deserve to be”;
- he turns the private moment of giving Sheila an engagement ring into a public event validating a class alliance in front of her family;
- his smile may be seen as self-congratulatory;
- he does not respond to Sheila’s kiss of thanks and says nothing more to her before she exits.

What Mr and Mrs Birling say in the extract:

- in his speech, Mr Birling seems more concerned about the Birling and Croft businesses working together than he does about whether Gerald loves his daughter;
- some candidates may argue that his interest in his daughter’s marriage is because he sees it as a way to climb the social ladder;
- Mrs Birling tells Sheila that she will have to get used to her husband being absent on business indicating that marriage to her is a business arrangement, “You’ll have to get used to that”;
- she acknowledges Gerald’s adroitness, “That was clever of you, Gerald” indicating her awareness of Gerald’s actions: that flattering Sheila and the public engagement are all part of a social ritual that must be followed.

Priestley’s use of language and dramatic techniques in the extract:

- Priestley uses the light-hearted conversation, the sense of occasion, the toasts and self-congratulatory giving of the engagement ring;

- the use of pompous language and tone suggests that the characters appear to be the epitome of good breeding and manners;
- to preserve the appearance of social harmony, unpleasant facts are finessed out of existence (hesitation and ellipsis);
- the language used by Mr Birling in his toast refers to the business rivalry and competition between his business and Croft Limited;
- Sheila kisses Gerald 'hastily' indicating that they may not know each other very well;
- Eric's sardonic comments create ripple of unease.

What we learn about marriage elsewhere in the play:

- Mr Birling's financial success as a businessman meant it was socially acceptable for him to marry his wife Sybil, who was his superior in terms of class;
- Mr Birling counteracts Gerald's mother's potential concerns about Sheila's background, by proudly boasting about the possibility of his Knighthood: "there's a fair chance I might find my way into the next Honours List";
- Gerald indicates that his mother would be "delighted" to hear about Mr Birling's Knighthood, indicating that Gerald and Sheila's marriage would be viewed more positively as a result;
- during her own confession, Sheila turns on Gerald indicating a lack of understanding between them which, earlier did not seem to be a barrier to marriage;
- after her confession she calls Gerald a "fool" and warns him not to lie to the Inspector;
- Sheila is determined to stay and hear Gerald's confession;
- Gerald admits to lying to Sheila and Mr Birling tries to excuse Gerald's affair with Eva/ Daisy: "But you must understand that a lot of young men-";
- Sheila realises that she and Gerald do not know each other well enough and gives him back the engagement ring;
- up to the very end Gerald seems concerned about preserving the status quo, which includes his engagement.

The following textual details may be used as supporting material.
The words in bold may form part of an argument.

How Mrs Lyons behaves towards Mrs Johnstone:

- she manipulates Mrs Johnstone's kind nature, playing on her sympathy to get what she wants: "Please Mrs Johnstone. Please";
- she uses threats of social services and later the police to force Mrs Johnstone to agree: "Already you're being threatened by the welfare";
- she lists the benefits of living with her to persuade Mrs Johnstone: "all his own toys, a garden, silver trays";
- she forces Mrs Johnstone to swear on the Bible: "we have to have an agreement";
- she doesn't consider Mrs Johnstone's feelings: "I must have my baby";
- she sacks Mrs Johnstone despite promising that she could see the baby, she lies to her husband: "she ignores most of her work";
- she frightens Mrs Johnstone into staying silent: "you will kill them";
- she attacks Mrs Johnstone and blames her: "I curse the day I met you". You ruined me".

Her relationship with Edward:

- she tries to keep him away from Mickey;
- she argues with Edward, claiming she is keeping him away from Mickey out of love: "It's only because I love you";
- she slaps Edward;
- she demands that they move house to keep Edward away from Mickey and Linda as "they're...drawing him away from me";
- she sends Edward away to boarding school.

Her behaviour towards Mickey:

- she physically removes Mickey from the house: ushers Mickey out;
- she blames him for Edward's behaviour: "like a horrible boy, like them";
- she selfishly tells Mickey about Edward and Linda to end the affair: She turns Mickey round and points out Edward and Linda.

Language and Dramatic Techniques:

- use of commands when trying to persuade Mrs Johnstone: “Give one to me”;
- forceful tone: “you didn’t notify me” when claiming the baby;
- her use of condescending language to refer to Mickey: “that boy”, “where boys like that live”;
- use of possessive language: “Edward is my son. Mine”, “You are my son, mine”;
- use of stage directions: willing her to agree, satisfied glance at herself, about to cry.

The following textual details may be used as supporting material.
The words in bold may form part of an argument.

What Mrs Lyons, Mrs Johnstone and the Narrator say and do in the extract:

Mrs Lyons:

- uses Mrs Johnstone's superstitious nature to manipulate her into leaving without the baby: "You do know what they say about twins, secretly parted, don't you?";
- frightens Mrs Johnstone with the threat of being responsible for the twins' deaths if she tells the truth: "You won't tell anyone...if you do, you will kill them".

Mrs Johnstone:

- is unable to stand up for herself against Mrs Lyons: "I didn't...You told me, you said";
- reacts with terror to the made-up superstition: terrified;
- she doesn't argue and gives in to Mrs Lyons's threats;
- she hides away: locked herself in.

The Narrator:

- lists several well-known superstitions in his song, all of which have severe consequences: "shoes on the table an' a spider's been killed";
- creates a threatening tone: "He's starin' through the windows, He's creepin' down the hall";
- emphasises the long-lasting impact of what Mrs Johnstone has done: "You will always know what was done".

Russell's use of language and dramatic techniques:

- use of stage direction to show Mrs Johnstone's confusion and fear: trying to get it together, terrified;
- use of stage directions to show Mrs Lyons's threatening behaviour: pushes the money, roughly drags her out of the way, thrusts;
- use of ellipsis to show Mrs Johnstone's fear: "I'll tell someone...";
- use of short, emphatic sentences to show Mrs Lyons's control of the situation: "No. You'll tell nobody";
- use of questions to build tension: "You do know what they say...?"
- use of music to build tension;
- use of repetition: "What? What";
- use of Narrator's song to emphasise the impact of superstition, listing superstitions;
- use of threatening language: "devil's got your number".

What Mrs Johnstone does elsewhere in the play:

- she overreacts when Mrs Lyons puts shoes on the table: “Oh God, Mrs Lyons, never put new shoes on a table”;
- she unconvincingly denies being superstitious: “I’m not superstitious”;
- she is reluctant to swear on the Bible, believing Mrs Lyons when she calls it a “binding agreement”;
- she falls for the superstition and sings: “What’s gone before will be concealed”;
- she is so convinced by superstition about separated twins, “You will kill them”, she does not reveal the truth to Edward and Mickey until the final scene.

Band 2 Emerging	11–20
Band 3 Some	21–30
Band 4 Competent	31–40

The following textual details may be used as supporting material.
The words in bold may form part of an argument.

How he is influenced by the Witches:

- the Witches fill Macbeth's mind with the "horrid image" of what he must do to achieve great ambition;
- the Witches appeal to his masculine pride by using the title, "Thane of Cawdor";
- Macbeth is compelled to murder Banquo as he also received a prophecy from the Witches ("Thou shalt get kings, though thou be none"), and Macbeth is then haunted by Banquo's ghost;
- Hecate highlights the Witches' manipulation of Macbeth ("all you have done") and their collective plan to confuse and frighten Macbeth further: "by the strength of their illusion/ Shall draw him on to his confusion";
- the Apparitions shown by the Witches greatly disturb Macbeth and he is encouraged to eradicate the threat posed by Macduff, as a result of what he is shown: "thou shalt not live";
- at the end he realises their double dealing, "doubt the equivocation of the fiend".

How he is influenced by Lady Macbeth:

- he is the victim of his wife's deadly ambition – she plots and schemes to manipulate her husband, invoking evil spirits to strengthen her resolve and overcome his main weakness: "th' milk of human kindness";
- his manliness is questioned by his wife ("When you durst do it, then you were a man") and she also questions his love for her, "From this time/ Such I account thy love";
- he is shocked by the extent of his wife's resolve and scheming ("thy undaunted mettle should compose/ Nothing but males") and feels compelled to comply with her "terrible feat";
- he is encouraged not to feel a sense of shame by his wife ("but I shame/ to wear a heart so white") when he feels remorse for the murder of Duncan ("This is a sorry sight");
- Macbeth is chastised by Lady Macbeth for his behaviour during the Banquet scene;
- Lady Macbeth's influence later wanes as the influence of the witches grows.

Shakespeare's use of Language and Dramatic Techniques:

- the Witches use repetition to address ideas relating to Macbeth's destiny: "All hail Macbeth, hail to thee";
- the antithetical language used by the Witches is designed to perplex Macbeth: "Lesser than Macbeth, and greater";

- the use of soliloquy shows Macbeth’s thoughts and feelings including his anxiety and remorse;
- Lady Macbeth’s use of rhetorical questions (“Was the hope drunk...?”) highlight her manipulation of her husband;
- she also uses graphic language to compel her husband to carry out her malevolent plans: “And dashed the brains out, had I so sworn”;
- the Witches flatter Macbeth as they expose his destiny with their language including short imperative sentences: “Demand”;
- the use of stage direction presents the Apparitions created by the Witches – the source of Macbeth’s anxiety and fears: ‘Exeunt show of kings and Banquo’s ghost’.

The following textual details may be used as supporting material.
The words in bold may form part of an argument.

In the extract:

- Macbeth calls them “secret black and midnight hags”;
- Macbeth reacts fearfully to the apparitions shown to him by the Witches: “What is this,/ That rises like the issue of a king”;
- Macbeth is perplexed and amazed by the sinister feats the Witches can perform: “Why sinks that cauldron? And what noise is this?”;
- the Witches are aware of the fear they evoke in Macbeth: “Show his eyes and grieve his heart”;
- the Witches strike fear in Macbeth, by showing him scenes including “a show of eight kings...Banquo’s ghost following”;
- Macbeth is particularly unnerved by the image of “the blood-boltered Banquo”, a reminder of this gruesome crime.

Shakespeare’s use of Language and Dramatic Techniques in the extract:

- Macbeth tries to assert his authority over the Witches;
- he repeats the word “Though” to convey the dangerous and frightening nature of their art (“Though you untie the winds and let them fight”), countering their abilities with his status: “answer me/To what I ask”;
- Macbeth’s use of imperative phrases (“Call ‘em”) replicates the language of the Witches: “Speak”, “Demand”, “Show!”;
- the use of stage directions establishes the extent of their power: ‘[Enter] FIRST APPARITION, an armed Head’;
- Macbeth reacts to the cacophonous effect of the first apparition’s warning: “Macbeth, Macbeth, Macbeth: beware Macduff”, by saying: “Had I three ears, I’d hear thee”;
- the use of regal imagery in Macbeth’s speeches (“And wears upon his baby-brow the round/And top of sovereignty”), conveys the impact of the Witches’ warnings;
- Macbeth’s fear and confusion, is presented in his constant use of questions: “Why do you show me this? – A fourth?”;
- Witches’ enigmatic speech creates fear too, “A deed without a name”.

Reactions to the Witches elsewhere in the play:

- Banquo reacts fearfully to the Witches in Act 1 Scene iii: “That look not like th’inhabitants o’th’earth,/And yet are on’t?”;
- Macbeth also reacts fearfully to what they Witches say (“Why do you start and seem to fear...?”), aware of the implications;
- Banquo highlights their frightening and unnatural qualities by what he says: “The earth hath bubbles, as the water has,/And these are of them?”;
- Macbeth is clearly afraid of the “horrid image” the Witches’ words have placed in his head, which “doth unfix my hair/And make my seated heart knock against my ribs”;
- implications by Hecate that Macbeth is their prey;
- Macbeth’s despair at the end of the play when he realises that the witches have been instrumental in his downfall “that palter with us in a double sense”, they are juggling friends.

The following textual details may be used as supporting material.

The words in bold may form part of the argument.

Her relationships with her parents and the Nurse:

- she is both physically and emotionally immature; as the Nurse points out to Lady Capulet, Juliet has not quite reached her fourteenth birthday;
- in the opening she is presented as an obedient, naive daughter, who barely speaks in her mother's company: "Madam, I am here, what is your will?";
- Juliet dutifully tells her mother that she will try to see if she can love Paris;
- Juliet is embarrassed by the Nurse's sexual joke;
- she is desperate and excited to find out from the Nurse what news she has of Romeo;
- Lord Capulet views her as a petulant child in her refusal to marry Paris;
- the mother is totally unsympathetic, "I have done with thee".

Her relationship with Romeo:

- she appears naive and idealistic as she falls in love with Romeo;
- she allows Romeo to kiss her;
- she blushes during the balcony scene, a sign of modesty;
- she realises that she is "too fond", too doting;
- she appears quite unsophisticated;
- She naively believes that Romeo may not be in exile for long: "For then I hope thou wilt not keep him long/But send him back,".

The decisions she makes:

- her denial of her name may be viewed as a rash decision;
- some candidates may argue that she foolishly and blindly decides to marry Romeo: "But my true love is grown to such excess...";
- she does not fully consider the consequences of her marriage to Romeo;
- her belief that Friar Laurence's plan will work may be viewed as immature;
- her impetuous decision to take her own life.

What the characters say and do in the extract:

- Capulet berates Juliet, insisting on filial obedience;
- Capulet disowns his daughter as a useless creature;
- Capulet laments the years and money raising a daughter for the right marriage, only to have it taken away by "a wretched puling fool, a whining mammet";
- Capulet's refusal to contemplate that love may have a part to play;
- Capulet's insistence that Juliet's marriage is in his gift alone;
- Capulet is angry because his plans for her happiness are frustrated;
- the denial of any connection between love and marriage;
- he is backed up by Lady Capulet;
- Juliet's romantic, idealised view that her love is made in heaven and can not be denied;
- the Nurse berates Capulet: "You are to blame my Lord to rate her so".

Shakespeare's use of language and dramatic techniques in the extract:

- Capulet is angry, "hang thee, young baggage,";
- Capulet's annoyance at the Nurse's interjection, "O God-i-goden!";
- Lady Capulet's rejection of her daughter, "for I have done with thee";
- Shakespeare's use of imperative: "get thee to a church"; "Speak not, reply not, do not answer me!" (Capulet); "Peace, you mumbling fool!"; "Talk not to me, for I'll not speak a word." (Lady Capulet);
- Capulet's haranguing/questioning, "And why, my Lady Wisdom?";
- Juliet's despair, "Is there no pity sitting in the clouds...?";
- disagreement about attitudes to love and marriage conveyed by noise, dissention, interruptions etc.;
- Capulet's listing of commands verging on physical violence, "hang, beg, starve, die in the streets";
- both parents storm out of the room.

Romeo's relationship with Juliet elsewhere in the play:

- he is stunned by Juliet's beauty when his eyes first befall her, "For I ne'er saw true beauty till this night";
- he speaks to her at first in tones of adoration using religious imagery: "If I profane with my unworthiest hand This holy shrine...";
- later he uses simple language to express genuine feelings, "It is my lady, O it is my love: O that she knew she were!";
- their love is mutual;
- their marriage is rapid and secret with no social trappings;
- he is impetuous without regard to ways or means and is more inclined to express the rapture of his love than to plan what to do about it;
- his insistence to the Friar (Act 3 Sc iii) that banishment from Verona means separation from Juliet and this is worse than death;
- the passion of the consummation followed by the hasty departure into exile;
- he is constant to her until death.

The following textual details may be used as supporting material. The words in bold may form part of the argument.

What Portia and Shylock say and do in the extract:

- Portia/Balthasar agrees that Shylock’s position is lawful under the bond;
- Shylock compliments Portia as a “worthy judge” for her interpretation of the law;
- Portia indicates that the terms of the bond must be carried out as required by law, “you must prepare your bosom for his knife”;
- Portia gets Shylock to clearly indicate his acceptance of her interpretation of the law, “which here appeareth due upon the bond” and he replies, “those are the very words”;
- Portia appeals to Shylock’s better nature, “Twere good you do so for charity”;
- Shylock challenges Portia’s instruction to “have by some surgeon” is not in the bond;
- Portia upholds the sentence, “The court awards it, and the law doth give it”;
- Portia uses another law to deny Shylock the terms of the bond;
- Shylock questions his apparent loss, “Is that the law?”;
- Portia insists on the exact wording, “The exact measure of one pound”.

Shakespeare’s use of language and dramatic techniques in the extract:

- use of language in Shylock’s ecstatic praise of Portia/Balthasar, “O noble judge! O excellent young man”;
- challenges the recommendation that they should show charity;
- Portia changes the subject when Shylock challenges the wording of the bond, “You, merchant, have you any thing to say?”;
- SD use of aside shows Shylock’s determination to proceed with the sentence;
- use of short sentences and exclamation marks to indicate Shylock’s increasing excitement, “A sentence! Come, prepare!”;
- use of dramatic irony when Portia springs a trap, “Tarry a little”;
- Gratiano uses identical language to that previously used by Shylock to drive home the advantage, “O upright judge!”;
- Shylock disbelieving shows shock with short question, “Is that the law?”.

What you learn about the law elsewhere in the play:

- Portia abides by inheritance law in relation to her father's will which she obeys even though it irks her;
- Shylock works under the law in usury;
- Shylock pretends friendship and offers a free loan with one condition as a joke, knowingly using the law to his advantage;
- the bond is a legal document, signed fairly and notarized but there is a deception in the transaction as Shylock leaves the impression that he is not serious about exacting the penalty;
- Shylock is stripped of his property and his life is placed in jeopardy in full accordance with Venetian law.

Use the Assessment Matrix.

Section B: Poetry

In this section we are assessing four assessment objectives:

AO1

Respond to texts critically and imaginatively; select and evaluate relevant textual detail to illustrate and support interpretations;

AO2

Explore how language, structure and form contribute to writers' presentation of ideas, characters, themes and settings;

AO3

Make comparisons and explain links between texts, evaluating writers' differing ways of expressing meaning and achieving effects;

AO4

Relate texts to their social, cultural and historical contexts; explain how texts have been influential and significant to self and other readers in different contexts and at different times.

Guidelines to Assessing AO2 in Candidates' Response to Poetry (Foundation Tier)

Assessment Objective 2 requires candidates to "explore how language, structure and form contribute to writers' presentation of ideas, characters, themes and settings".

This will be effected through:

Key term in the question (Foundation Tier):

"Compare and contrast what the speakers . . ."

And:

Key Terms in the bullets (Foundation Tier):

"how each poet uses language to . . ."

Use of Language and Stylistic Devices/Poetic Techniques

When assessing candidates' responses to poetry, some of the following uses of language and stylistic devices may be noted. (This list is neither prescriptive nor exhaustive, but is intended as a helpful guide to examiners.)

- versification and structure (use of some terms, e.g. quatrain, couplet, octave, metre, iambic rhythm);
- specific forms (e.g. ode, sonnet, monologue, lyric);
- similes and metaphors;
- imagery and use of the senses (especially visual imagery and auditory imagery);
- alliteration and other "sound" features (e.g. assonance, consonance, repetition, rhyme and rhythm);
- vocabulary choices;
- repetition of words or ideas;
- use of punctuation;
- visual impact of the poem on the page.

Guidelines to Assessing AO3 in Candidates' Response to Poetry

Assessment Objective 3 requires candidates to “make comparisons and explain links between texts, evaluating writers’ differing ways of expressing meaning...”

Key Term in the question (Foundation Tier):

“Compare and contrast...”

“more moving”; “prefer” etc.

When assessing candidates’ responses to poetry, reward candidates who give a roughly equal representation to the two poems. Lack of balance in a response must be noted and reflected in the final mark. Where the candidate is asked to select a second poem, it is important that the poem is relevant to the key terms of the question. If a candidate makes an inappropriate choice of poem, this also must be noted and reflected in the final mark.

Reward comparisons which are relevant to the key terms of the question and which are presented in an effectively pointed way.

Candidates who offer no comparison or contrast should not be awarded marks above Band 2.

Guidelines for Assessing AO4 in Candidates' Response to Poetry

Assessment Objective 4 requires candidates “to relate texts to their social, cultural and historical contexts and explain how texts have been influential and significant for self and other readers in different contexts and at different times.”

Key Terms in the question

“relevant contextual material...”

When assessing candidates’ response to poetry, reward candidates who provide contextual material which is relevant to the key terms of the question.

Candidates who offer no contextual material should not be awarded marks above Band 3.

9 Anthology One : Themes – Love and Death

- (a) Look again at A Poison Tree by William Blake (List A) and at Night of the Scorpion by Nissim Ezekiel (List B), which both deal with the theme of strong feelings.

Compare and contrast what the speakers in the poems say about strong feelings.

Which poem do you prefer? Give reasons for your opinions.

In your answer you should consider:

- what each poet has written about;
- what you learn about the thoughts and feelings of each speaker;
- how each poet uses language to convey these thoughts and feelings;
- relevant background material.

Examiners should note that candidates must address the stem of the question.

Reward candidates who can sensibly acknowledge and discuss similarities and differences (AO3) and offer an informed personal response (AO1), backed up by a discussion of each poet's use of language (AO2) and by knowledge of context (AO4).

Band 0 None	0
Band 1 Very Little	1–10
Band 2 Emerging	11–20
Band 3 Some	21–30
Band 4 Competent	31–40

The following textual details may be used as supporting material.

What each poem is about:

A Poison Tree:

The poet believes that if a feeling is not expressed, it becomes morbid and considers the nature and the consequences of concealed anger as it develops and festers. The speaker describes how he has tended and cultivated his 'wrath' with a hint of subtle pleasure, speaking of it as if it were a plant rather than an intense emotion. At the climax of the poem the speaker reveals his own excitement at luring his foe into blameworthiness, but it is really a telling indictment of himself.

Night of the Scorpion

A scorpion stings the speaker's mother in a village house; the speaker describes the reactions and prayers of neighbours for the mother's recovery. The speaker describes the mother's pain and the father's resort to superstitious remedies, finally describing the mother's recovery and expression of thanks to God.

Candidates' response to use of language:

A Poison Tree:

- sixteen-line poem with a very simple structure: four quatrains of rhyming couplets;
- use of and to link each stanza which hurries the pace;
- language of nurture shows the speaker's apparent pleasure in hiding his anger and letting it grow: "I water'd it in fears...I sunned it with smiles";
- use of symbolism – the apple could refer to the Garden of Eden, temptation and punishment;
- unusual punctuation demonstrating eccentricity on the part of the poet;
- metaphor of the tree;

- the final stanza demonstrates how unhealthy it is to bottle up emotions, allowing them to fester, leading to severe consequences.

Night of the Scorpion:

- a memory poem, first person account;
- circumstantial detail establishes setting – “a sack of rice”; “sun-baked walls”;
- suggestion of exotic setting through the slightly alien diction and locutions of the neighbours, and by their (to us) rather unusual religious beliefs: “May your suffering decrease/the misfortunes of your next birth”;
- repetition of “they said” may prompt conclusions about the usefulness and genuineness of the neighbours’ concern;
- contrast between the complacent neighbours and the agonized mother;
- use of listing (of prayers, of remedies, of details of setting) suggests protraction of the pain, and of the “night of the scorpion”;
- use of contrast between description of father as “sceptic, rationalist” and what he is driven to do;
- imagery: the “diabolic” scorpion; simile of “swarms of flies” for neighbours;
- speaker (a child) vanishes in the hub-bub, only re-emerging at end of poem;
- mother’s no-nonsense remark denotes anti-climactic ending.

Similarities and differences in the poets’ attitudes and the candidates’ personal preference:

- Both poems reflect on unexpressed emotions: A Poison Tree describes the effects of letting anger fester rather than letting it out, while Night of the Scorpion focuses on the speaker’s realisation of the love his mother had for her family.
- The speaker in Night of the Scorpion expresses the love and concern of all in the community while Blake in A Poison Tree warns against the dangerous effects of his suppressed anger.

Candidates’ awareness of contexts:

A Poison Tree

Blake believed in expressing emotions rather than allowing them to fester and develop into unhealthy hatred. His advice appears to be to ‘let it out’. His approach to repression anticipates popular twentieth century views.

Night of the Scorpion

- religious background of poem;
- co-existence of modern and traditional beliefs in developing countries.

Reward candidates who engage meaningfully with each poet’s use of language.

Credit any other valid suggestions.

Use of Language and Stylistic Devices/Poetic Techniques: see Guidelines at the start of this section.

Use the Assessment Matrix.

- (b) Look again at Bredon Hill by A.E. Housman which deals with the theme of death, and at one poem from List B which also deals with the theme of death.

Compare and contrast what the speakers in the poems say about death.

Which poem do you find more interesting? Give reasons for your opinions.

In your answer you should consider:

- what each poet has written about;
- what you learn about the thoughts and feelings of each speaker;
- how each poet uses language to convey these thoughts and feelings;
- relevant background material.

Examiners should note that candidates must address the stem of the question.

Reward candidates who can sensibly acknowledge and discuss similarities and differences (AO3) and offer an informed personal response (AO1), backed up by a discussion of each poet's use of language (AO2) and by knowledge of context (AO4).

Band 0 None	0
Band 1 Very Little	1–10
Band 2 Emerging	11–20
Band 3 Some	21–30
Band 4 Competent	31–40

Selection of a second poem:

This question is about what each speaker tells us about death, how the poets convey this and the candidate's personal response. Ensure that the self-selected poem is appropriate for discussion with the named poem.

What the named poem is about:

Bredon Hill:

The poem is a ballad, spoken by a young man to church bells, which are personified and speak as summons to worship, a prelude to the joy of marriage, and, sadly, the end of life and love. The opening of the poem suggests a love affair but the bell continues to ring, and the girl eventually goes to the church in a coffin. In the last two lines of the poem the speaker addresses the bells directly, acknowledging that their call to pray and, eventually, to the grave applied not just to his lover, but also to himself.

Candidates' response to use of language:

- regular rhythm and rhyme with the final line of each stanza creating a short echo effect;
- suggestion of seasonal transitions: the 'larks' change to 'snows', demonstrating the passing of life;
- personification of the bells: they speak a message to the people, the young couple ignore the bells as they spend time together, hinting at the possibility of punishment for turning away from religious life;
- variation of the bells, what they symbolise, and how the speaker reacts to them;
- use of dialogue;
- command and answer structure;
- ambiguous nature of the ending: does the speaker regret turning away from the Church or is he overcome with grief?

Similarities and differences in the poets' attitudes and the candidates' personal response:

Reward clear connections made between the attitudes to death described by Housman and attitudes to death shown in the self-chosen poem. Reward also comparisons and contrasts made between the poem as regards poetic technique and relevant contextual material. Reward a clearly argued preference.

Candidates' awareness of contexts:

Candidates may show awareness of some of the following:

- The poem comes from the collection 'The Shropshire Lad' which became very popular with soldiers in the First World War as they faced leaving loved ones behind and death in battle. The poems in the collection were noted for their pessimism and preoccupation with death.

Reward candidates who can engage meaningfully with each poet's use of language.

Credit any other valid suggestions.

Use of Language and Stylistic Devices/Poetic Techniques: see Guidelines at the start of Section B.

Use the Assessment Matrix.

10 Anthology Two: Themes – Nature and War

- (a) Look again at The Badger by John Clare (List C) and at A Narrow Fellow in the Grass by Emily Dickinson (List D), which both deal with reactions to nature.

Compare and contrast how the speakers in the poems react to nature.

Which poem do you prefer? Give reasons for your opinions.

In your answer you should consider:

- what each poet has written about;
- what you learn about the thoughts and feelings of each speaker;
- how each poet uses language to convey these thoughts and feelings;
- relevant background material.

Examiners should note that candidates must address the stem of the question.

Reward candidates who can sensibly acknowledge and discuss similarities and differences (AO3) and offer an informed personal response (AO1), backed up by a discussion of each poet's use of language (AO2) and by knowledge of context (AO4).

Band 0 None	0
Band 1 Very Little	1–10
Band 2 Emerging	11–20
Band 3 Some	21–30
Band 4 Competent	31–40

The following textual details may be used as supporting material.

What each poem is about:

The Badger:

The poem is an account of badger-baiting in an English village, describing the cruelty of such sport.

A Narrow Fellow in the Grass:

The speaker describes an encounter with a snake while out for a walk, expressing admiration and sudden fear.

Candidates' response to use of language:

The Badger:

- language is simple and the poem is written in Clare's own dialect;
- paints a realistic picture of the cruelty of badger-baiting: "Till kicked and torn and beaten out he lies";
- the poet encourages a sympathy with the victim – the badger against the crowd of villagers and their dogs;
- the badger is personified, creating sympathy: "The badger grins";
- words used to describe the badger create sympathy: "vulnerable", "old grunting";
- the badger is depicted as heroic, fighting back against the crowd, though at a disadvantage: "Though scarcely half as big, demure and small";
- the poem is written in the present tense, creating immediate impact;
- verbs in groups of three highlight the cruelty of the villagers: "and laugh and shout and fright";
- repetition of 'And' at the start of sentences to emphasise the continuing cruelty until the badger is dead;

- repetition of verbs for urgency – “bites”, “drives”;
- onomatopoeia to create sounds of the chase: “grunting”, “buzzes”;
- use of monosyllabic words to speed the pace.

A Narrow Fellow in the Grass:

- the speaker describes a snake without using the word “snake” – the impression of the snake is created by the use of imagery, “a spotted shaft”, “a Whiplash/Unbraiding in the Sun”;
- describes the “sudden” and unexpected appearance of the snake;
- use of dashes to create a sense of urgency and excitement;
- the speaker in the poem is male, perhaps to make the experience more universal; “When a Boy and Barefoot . . .”;
- use of simile to describe the snake’s movement, “The Grass divides as with a Comb”;
- tone of admiration turning to anxiety in the final stanza, reflecting the speaker’s natural reaction to the snake;
- direct appeal to reader, “You may have met him – did you not?”.

Similarities and differences in the poets’ attitudes and the candidates’ personal preference:

- The Badger shows the cruelty of man towards nature for sport, while A Narrow Fellow in the Grass shows man’s admiration and anxiety of things in nature;
- the tone in A Narrow Fellow in the Grass is of admiration and anxiety while the tone in The Badger is of savagery;
- both poets use striking imagery to describe nature.

Candidates’ awareness of contexts:

- Emily Dickinson lived a reclusive life and found joy in nature;
- the poem records the intensity of the experience of encountering a snake while out walking;
- Clare describes a scene which would have been familiar in the Northamptonshire countryside where he grew up.

Reward candidates who engage meaningfully with each poet’s use of language.

Credit any other valid suggestions.

Uses of Language and Stylistic Devices/Poetic Techniques: see Guidelines at the start of Section B.

Use the Assessment Matrix.

- (b) Look again at The Battle by Louis Simpson (List D) which deals with the theme of war, and at one poem from List C which also deals with the theme of war.

Compare and contrast what the speakers in the poems say about war.

Which poem do you find more interesting? Give reasons for your opinions.

In your answer you should consider:

- what each poet has written about;
- what you learn about the thoughts and feelings of each speaker;
- how each poet uses language to convey these thoughts and feelings;
- relevant background material.

Examiners should note that candidates must address the stem of the question.

Reward candidates who can sensibly acknowledge and discuss similarities and differences (AO3) and offer an informed personal response (AO1), backed up by a discussion of each poet's use of language (AO2) and by knowledge of context (AO4).

Band 0 None	0

Band 4 Competent	31–40

Selection of a second poem:

This question is about what each speaker tells us about war, how the poets convey this and the candidate's personal response. Ensure that the self-selected poem is appropriate for discussion with the named poem.

What the named poem is about:

The Battle:

The speaker describes soldiers marching forward and digging in, then setting up camp and the battle which ensues, detailing the soldiers' exhaustion and discomfort.

Candidates' response to use of language:

- use of synecdoche to dehumanise the soldiers: "Helmet and rifle, pack and overcoat/ Marched";
- use of simile to describe the night as something sinister: "Like the circle of a throat/The night on every side was turning red";
- anti-heroic description of the soldiers, de-glamorisation of war;
- straightforward description of battle conditions makes the message clear to the reader;
- sentence structure – flat, simple statements reflect the soldiers' exhaustion;
- use of onomatopoeia to bring alive the sounds of battle;
- image of the cigarette in the final stanza sums up the speaker's experience – showing how precarious life is;
- change of tone from impersonal description to a personal reaction to events.

Similarities and differences in the poets' attitudes and the candidates' personal preference:

Reward clear connections made between the treatment of war in The Battle and that in the self-chosen poem. Reward also comparisons and contrasts made between the poems as regards poetic technique and relevant contextual material. Reward a clearly argued preference.

Candidates' awareness of contexts:

The Battle:

Louis Simpson served as a paratrooper in the U.S. Army in Europe during the Second World War. Many of his early poems reflect his wartime experiences.

Reward candidates who engage meaningfully with each poet's use of language.

Credit any other valid suggestions.

11 Anthology Three: Heaney and Hardy

Answer either (a) or (b)

- (a) Look again at At a Potato Digging by Seamus Heaney (List E) and at A Sheep Fair by Thomas Hardy (List F), which both deal with country life.

Compare and contrast what the speakers in the poems say about country life.

Which poem do you prefer? Give reasons for your opinions.

In your answer you should consider:

- what each poet has written about;
- what you learn about the thoughts and feelings of each speaker;
- how each poet uses language to convey these thoughts and feelings;
- relevant background material.

Examiners should note that candidates must address the stem of the question.

Reward candidates which can sensibly acknowledge and discuss similarities and differences (AO3) and offer an informed personal response (AO1), backed up by a discussion of each poet's use of language (AO2) and by knowledge of context (AO4).

Band 0 None	0
Band 1 Very Little	1–10
Band 2 Emerging	11–20
Band 3 Some	21–30
Band 4 Competent	31–40

The following textual details may be used as supporting material

What each poem is about:

At a Potato Digging:

A rural scene of digging up the potatoes with labourers following behind the digger. The speaker likens the activity to a religious rite in propitiation of the famine gods.

A Sheep Fair:

A rural scene of a sheep auction remembered by a detached speaker, an older man perhaps, as part of his youth from which all those he remembers are now dead.

Candidate's response to the use of language:

At a Potato Digging:

- written in alternately rhymed quatrains;
- simile to describe workers, "like crows";
- personification: earth as "mother";
- alliteration: "ragged ranks" perhaps suggesting poverty, perhaps difficult working conditions;
- religious imagery of "processional stooping", "famine god", "altar of the sod";
- workers dehumanised – likens the gatherers to insects, "swarm in behind";
- ominous atmosphere as inhospitable weather makes "Fingers go dead in the cold";
- stark contrast between beginning and end of poem;
- figures become atavistic.

A Sheep Fair:

- carefully rhymed stanzas;
- all three stanzas have the same structure;
- repetition of phrases for emphasis, e.g. “torrents fall”;
- evocation of “wetness” using similes, “like a sponge”, “hat brims fill like pails” suggesting misery;
- the “wetness” pervades everything and is unrelenting;
- alliteration to suggest misery and unpleasantness rather than idyllic rustic setting – “reek against the rails”, “tucked in tails”, “to doom each meek, mewed band”;
- use of the device of “Postscript”;
- bleak language in postscript;
- dark tone as all are dead – “every flock long since has bled”;
- reflection – change in tense – retrospective;
- tense changes, again – “has bled” to “is dead”.

Similarities and differences in the poets’ attitudes and the candidates’ personal response:

- both poems look at the harshness of country life;
- both poems shatter the idealised rural scene;
- Hardy deals with his memories whereas Heaney shifts from memory to historical/ancestral perspective;
- ominous atmosphere of death in both poems.

Candidates’ awareness of contexts:

Candidates may show awareness of some of the following:

- one of Hardy’s very late poems written in the 1920s – he is older, facing his own death and the deaths of everyone he remembers;
- Hardy’s poetry in 1920s contained an increasing sense of detachment and distance;
- frequent autobiographical elements in Hardy’s poetry, use of Dorsetshire memories, settings, place-names; elements of anti-pastoral in Hardy’s poem;
- Heaney spent childhood on a farm when mechanisation was being introduced to farming;
- Heaney concerned with Irish history – the Great Famine when the potato crop failed with cataclysmic results leading to the deaths of millions.

Reward candidates who engage meaningfully with each poet’s use of language.

Credit any other valid references.

- (b) Look again at Blackberry-Picking by Seamus Heaney (List E) which deals with the theme of disappointment and at one poem from List F which also deals with the theme of disappointment.

Compare and contrast what the speakers in the poems say about disappointment.

Which poem do you find more interesting? Give reasons for your opinions.

In your answer you should consider:

- what each poet has written about;
- what you learn about the thoughts and feelings of each speaker;
- how each poet uses language to convey these thoughts and feelings;
- relevant background material.

Examiners should note that candidates must address the stem of the question.

Reward candidates who can sensibly acknowledge and discuss similarities and differences (AO3) and offer an informed personal response (AO1), backed up by a discussion of each poet's use of language (AO2) and by knowledge of context (AO4).

Band 0 None	0
Band 1 Very Little	1–10
Band 2 Emerging	11–20
Band 3 Some	21–30
Band 4 Competent	31–40

Selection of a second poem:

This question is about what each speaker tells us about disappointment, how the poets convey this and the candidate's personal response. Ensure that the self-selected poem is appropriate for discussion with the named poem.

What the named poem is about:

Blackberry-Picking:

- the speaker provides a vivid description of picking blackberries as a child;
- in the first half of the poem the speaker describes in detail the process of picking blackberries;
- in the second half of the poem the speaker discusses the failed attempts made to preserve the blackberries;
- blackberry picking is used as a metaphor to explore hope and disappointment and how things never live up to expectations.

Candidate's response to use of language:

Blackberry-Picking:

- the title itself suggests the summer ritual of fruit picking and the pleasure involved in this;
- in the first part of the poem the speaker presents the tasting of the blackberries as a sensuous pleasure, e.g. "flesh was sweet", "summer's blood" and "lust";
- this is enhanced through an evocative use of colour adjectives, e.g. "glossy purple clot" and helps to generate the speaker's sense of excitement;
- the speaker makes the experience more intimate and personal by changing the pronoun from "you" to "us";
- the speaker's enthusiasm is expressed through the naming of the various receptacles used to collect the blackberries and the detailing of the journey undertaken;
- the speaker suggests that this picking has become savage or violent as the children's palms are described as "sticky as Bluebeard's", the infamous nobleman known for killing his wives;

- there is a tonal shift in the second part of the poem as the euphoria of the first part gives way to disappointment;
- the sensuous language changes to darker, more foreboding language: “A rat-grey fungus, glutting on our cache”;
- the speaker presents the frustrated view of the child “I always felt like crying. It wasn’t fair” together with the more detached adult view in the last line, “each year I hoped they’d keep, knew they would not.”;
- Heaney uses half-rhyming iambic pentameter couplets throughout, apart from two occasions when full rhymes are used to define and connect the initial experience of the ripened blackberries with the spoiling of the berries in the cans.

Similarities and differences in the poets’ attitudes and the candidates’ personal response:

Reward clear connections made between the attitudes to disappointment described by Heaney and those shown in the self-selected poem. Reward also comparisons and contrasts made between the poems as regards poetic technique and relevant contextual material.

Reward a clearly argued preference.

Candidates’ awareness of contexts:

Heaney is drawing on childhood experiences from growing up in rural Ireland; Typical childhood activities follow seasonal patterns;

Reward candidates who engage meaningfully with each poet’s use of language.

Section C: Poetry

In this section we are assessing two assessment objectives:

AO1

Respond to texts critically and imaginatively; select and evaluate relevant textual detail to illustrate and support interpretations;

AO2

Explore how language, structure and form contribute to writers' presentation of ideas, themes and settings;

Guidelines to Assessing AO2 in Candidates' Response to Poetry (Foundation Tier)

Assessment Objective 2 requires candidates to "explore how language, structure and form contribute to writers' presentation of ideas, characters, themes and settings".

This will be effected through:

Key term in the question (Foundation Tier):

"the ways the poet uses language . . ."

And:

Key Term in the bullets (Foundation Tier)

"the language used in the poem"

Use of Language and Stylistic Devices/Poetic Techniques

When assessing candidates' responses to poetry, some of the following uses of language and stylistic devices may be noted. (This list is neither prescriptive nor exhaustive, but is intended as a helpful guide to examiners.)

- versification and structure (use of some terms, e.g. quatrain, couplet, octave, metre, iambic rhythm);
- specific forms (e.g. ode, sonnet, monologue, lyric);
- similes and metaphors;
- imagery and use of the senses, (especially visual imagery and auditory imagery);
- alliteration and other "sound" features (e.g. assonance, consonance, repetition, rhyme and rhythm);
- vocabulary choices;
- repetition of words or ideas;
- use of punctuation;
- visual impact of the poem on the page.

12 Section C: Unseen Poetry

By referring closely to the details of the poem and particularly to the ways the poet uses language, show what you learn about the speaker in the poem.

In your answer you should consider:

- the speaker's thoughts and feelings about the newborn child;
- the language used in the poem;
- the form and structure of the poem.

Reward candidates who can present a personal response and informed argument (AO1), backed up with understanding of the poet's methods and intentions (AO2).

The speaker's thoughts and feelings about the newborn child:

- the speaker offers the child a welcome into the world and outlines what he hopes will become her attributes;
- the poem briefly presents traditional good wishes and hopes offered on such occasions but follows with the suggestion of a less conventional type in relation to her future happiness;
- the speaker encourages the newborn child to embrace the ordinary life that so many people experience.

The language and imagery of the poem:

- the title is a pun: the poem was written shortly after the birth of Sally Amis but the phrase is used, also, to describe someone who is naive about the world;
- metaphor of 'tightly-folded bud' to describe both the baby's curled posture as well as a flower ready to open;
- use of negative words, 'None' and 'Not' to undermine and shift the emphasis away from the traditional good wishes of others;
- the speaker distances himself from the 'others' in a dismissive manner, 'They will all wish you that';
- the tone at the end of the first stanza seems negative and expresses the speaker's cynicism, 'Well, you're a lucky girl';
- the speaker emphasises the ordinary nature of life through language used, 'ordinary', 'average', 'nothing uncustomary', 'balance' and 'dull' and are presented as desirable qualities or conditions;
- use of pronouns such as 'I' and the repetition of 'You' create an informal tone and add to the conversational style of the poem suggesting a closeness between the speaker and the subject;
- the contrasting energetic and optimistic language of the poem's closing lines in relation to the negative language prior to this to suggest the speaker is presenting an honest and realistic way for the baby to be happy in the future.

The structure of the poem:

- two sections: a ten-line stanza followed by a 14-line stanza;
- the lines are short and direct;
- the first stanza focuses on the traditional wishes for a newborn child and their eventual deflation;
