INSTRUCTIONS TO CANDIDATES

Use black ink or black ball-point pen.

Write your name, centre number and candidate number in the spaces at the top of this page.

Answer ALL the questions on the examination paper.

Write your answers in the spaces provided in this booklet. If you run out of space, use the continuation page at the back of the booklet, and if this is not sufficient use supplementary sheets. Write your name at the top of each supplementary sheet, indicating clearly the number of the question you answer. Put the supplementary sheets inside this booklet.

INFORMATION FOR CANDIDATES

The number of marks is given in brackets at the end of each question or part-question.

You are reminded that assessment will take into account the quality of written communication used in your answers that involve extended writing. These are question 1(c) and question 3(b).

In addition, your ability to spell, punctuate and use grammar accurately will be assessed in your answer to question 3(b).

Answer all questions.

QUESTION 1

This question is focused on the ending of apartheid.

Study these two sources which refer to the threat of a communist take over in South Africa and answer the question which follows.

Source B

The struggle in South Africa is not between a black struggle and a white. The struggle is between Christian, civilised standards and the evil threat and chaos of communism. The communist-held aim of the ANC is to take over our country with the backing of the Soviet Union.

[P.W.Botha, Prime Minister of South Africa speaking in his first address to Parliament in 1978]

Source C

The Soviet Union did give some military support to the ANC but there was no great soviet strategy for taking over South Africa. The fear of communism was exaggerated and there was almost certainly no real threat of communism taking root in South Africa.

[From The History of Africa, a website produced by the BBC World Service in 2002]

- (c) Why do Sources B and C have different views about the threat of a communist take over in South Africa? [8]

In your answer you should refer to the content and authorship of the sources.
